Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 15 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A largely fine and dry day, with sunny spells.

Today:
A largely dry start with spells of sunshine through the morning. Into the afternoon sunny spells continuing, with some patchy cloud arising. Feeling pleasant in the sun with light winds. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying dry through the evening with some late sunny spells. Overnight, cloud increasing from the west, which may produce the odd shower. Perhaps a few fog patches in prone locations. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Thursday:
A mostly dry start with sunny spells through the morning. Spells of sunshine lasting into the afternoon, but cloud amounts gradually increasing from the west. Feeling rather mild. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Turning cloudier on Friday with outbreaks of rain later. Some sunny spells and scattered showers on Saturday. Often cloudy with some showery outbreaks on Sunday. Remaining rather mild.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.